

WinDoGlass Innovation The International Fenestration Products and Glass Expo

25-26.09.2026

Friday: 25 September 2026 (Friday)

Exposition opening hours: 09:00 - 17:00

10:00 - 15:00	Window and door joinery 2026 – market requirements, safety, and upcoming changes. Organiser : Certbud
10:00 - 11:30	Section I. Doors and windows in the context of performance characteristics and market requirements. Lecture I: Placing window and door joinery products on the market – CE and B marking and assessment systems. Lecture II: Quality in window and door joinery – how to evaluate a product through the lens of its performance characteristics. Lecture III: Thermal insulation of doors and windows – a key product feature in the context of current building requirements.
11:30 - 13:00	Section II. Safety in window and door joinery – burglary resistance, evacuation, and fire protection. Lecture IV: Burglary resistance as an element of safety in residential buildings and uniformed services facilities. Lecture V: Safe evacuation starts with doors – requirements for doors on escape routes. Lecture VII: Fire resistance and smoke control of products – significance, requirements, and classification.
13:20 - 14:40	Section III. The future of window and door joinery – upcoming legal and environmental changes. Lecture VII: The new CPR and the Construction Products Act – key changes for window and door joinery manufacturers. Lecture VIII: Environmental requirements for buildings and window and door joinery products – the importance of the Environmental Product Declaration (EPD) and System 3+. Lecture IX: The product passport – from concept to implementation. What lies ahead and where are we now?

Saturday: 26 September 2026 (Saturday)

Exposition opening hours: 09:00 - 17:00