The most important event

in the surface protection industry

The Exhibition of Corrosion Protection Technology and Surface Treatment EXPO-SURFACE is one of Central and Eastern Europe's most important exhibitions which focuses on surface protection; despite the fact that the expo held in pandemic times was slightly smaller and held on a more modest than it used to be, its exhibitors' and visitors' feedback has been genuinely positive. The event brought together the business insiders ready to talk shop and do business. This business atmosphere made it possible to expand business horizons and establish valuable contacts.

The series of industrial exhibitions held under the banner of STOM, with its indispensable part - the EXPO-SURFACE has become a permanent point in many industries' specialists' calendars. The event's popularity made it possible to bring together 500 exhibitors in 7 exhibition halls, despite the pandemic downturn.

Sixty companies from Poland, Germany, Finland, Hungary, Greece and Turkey presented their offering at the EXPO-SURFACE.

The three expo days welcomed almost 10,000 industry visitors - business insiders.

The EXPO-SURFACE agenda abounds with knowledge-packed meetings, technical seminars and conferences which feature industry experts. The recent expo's agenda included the following lectures and presentations: "Theoretical assumptions and a discussion on the parameters of coatings resistant to erosive abrasion at high temperatures in fluidized bed boilers' conditions", "Operational tests of coatings resistant to erosive abrasion at high temperatures - fluidized bed boilers and innovative technical aspects of a stand for coat-application" and "Forum designed to disseminate the innovative model of practical education".

The gala ceremony held on the first day of the fair was also the awarding ceremony - the best products and services showcased at the EXPO-SURFACE earned accolades. The Jury Panel comprising business and industry specialists decided which products deserve recognition. The awarding ceremony also encompassed Targi Kielce TOP DESIGN presentation for the original and modern style of expo presentation.

Product and service categories

The EXPO-SURFACE offers a wide scope of products and services; the expo portfolio meets the surface protection industry's specialists' expectations. The expo products and services range include technologies and devices for protective coatings applications, equipment for cleaning and preparing surfaces, specialist chemicals, varnishing, enamelling and plastic coating equipment, equipment for chemical and thermal surface treatment, laser and plasma technologies for surface coating, devices for thermal spraying, special surface treatment systems, measuring and control devices and research equipment, the offer of services, research and industry institutions, composite materials and proposals for anti-corrosion insulation, i.e. materials, products and services.

WE ARE BACK

this spring

The Exhibition of Corrosion Protection Technology and Surface Treatment EXPO-SURFACE, complemented with other industrial events, are traditionally held in spring. The pandemic has resulted in an economic downturn in an overwhelming majority of business sectors, yet this expo still goes strong despite the extraordinary situation. The only change accepted by both exhibitors and visitors was that the expo was postponed to a later, autumn date. After two years of „Industrial Autumn”, the EXPO-SURFACE returns to its traditional spring date - join us already in 2022!
