FENIKS competition - the funeral industry leaders

FENIKS Award for the funeral industry - necessary information:

the award presented for people, organisations and companies which contribute towards the funeral and cemetery industry development and promote its positive image at home and abroad.

Who can be a winner?

Persons, entrepreneurs, organisations and institutions from this business sector, those representing scientific, media and non-governmental communities who have demonstrated extensive and outstanding commitment and activity designed to develop the Polish funeral industry. Nominate your candidate for the funeral industry accolades.

Who can nominate candidates?

Candidates may be registered by institutions and organisations: chambers, associations, editorial offices of industry publishing houses, funeral parlours and the funeral-industry companies, producers, distributors and service providers. Every year, each institution may nominate three candidates to be presented the Phoenix Awards.

Each registered company/person/institution gains an extra promotional package - available when they register for the event.

The package for candidates offers extra promotion of the company/product / service / candidate's profiles at the NECROEXPO's special Facebook account complemented with a video feature on a dedicated YouTube channel, information on LinkedIn, Twitter, the trade show's news website at Kielce portal as well as a newsletter for exhibitors and visitors.

BONUS

Every company which puts forward its candidates may enjoy a special offer - the opportunity to present the company/products/services in the NECROEXPO social media, news-section on the website and newsletters.
